

PhD Course Information

[Applicable to students in the 107-113 school year]

1. The duration of the doctoral program is limited to two to seven years.
The doctoral class is not able to graduate within the prescribed period of study, and the period of study is extended for another one year.
"In-service the definition of student" identity, subject to the status of admission to school.
2. The doctoral degree is divided into 30 credits; it contains compulsory topics "Seminar" (1) (2) (3) (4) 1 credit for each course, 26 credits for electives; but it doesn't include 12 credits for the paper.
Graduate students cannot choose the special discussion of other faculties (1) (2) (3) (4) credits waiver and transference of IOTMA's (1) (2) (3) (4).
Graduation credits for graduate students pursuing a doctoral degree require 44 credits, includes 6 credits for compulsory thematic discussions, 38 credits for elective courses; but it doesn't include 12 credits for the paper.
Graduate students (including delay-graduated student) should be elected in at least one course per semester after enrollment.
3. Doctoral students who take courses in other departments curriculum will complete the "Course Credit Application Form" and then choose the course with the consent of the instructor. The electives of other departments will recognize at most 13 credits in the graduation credits.

PhD Course Information

[Applicable for students starting in the 108th school year]

1. The duration of the doctoral program is limited to two to seven years.
The doctoral class is not able to graduate within the prescribed period of study, and the period of study is extended for another one year.
"In-service the definition of student" identity, subject to the status of admission to school.
2. The doctoral degree is divided into 30 credits; it contains compulsory topics "Seminar" (1) (2) (3) (4) 1 credit for each course, 26 credits for electives; but it doesn't include 12 credits for the paper.
Graduate students cannot choose the special discussion of other faculties (1) (2) (3) (4) credits waiver and transference of IOTMA's (1) (2) (3) (4).
Graduation credits for graduate students pursuing a doctoral degree require 44 credits, includes 6 credits for compulsory thematic discussions, 38 credits for elective courses; but it doesn't include 12 credits for the paper.
Graduate students (including delay-graduated student) should be elected in at least one course per semester after enrollment.
3. Doctoral students who take courses in other departments curriculum will complete the "Course Credit Application Form" and then choose the course with the consent of the instructor. The electives of other departments will recognize at most 13 credits in the graduation credits.

If there are special circumstances, the doctoral qualification examination committee will review the resolution.